The Organ Music in Today's Liturgy

Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750) wrote so much great liturgical organ music that it would be easy to feature his pieces almost every week. Today's prelude, Wachet auf, ruft uns die Stimme (Awaken!, the voice calls out to us), utilizes a hymn based upon the Gospel. Bach's setting was originally written as a tenor solo, with violin and viola obbligato and continuo, the fourth movement in his Cantata 140. Bach himself transcribed it for organ solo. In the postlude, Wie schön leuchtet der Morgenstern (How beautifully shines the Morning Star), Bach again uses a hymn, this one alluding to the themes in the Old Testament reading and again from the Gospel. The ending of the piece is unfortunately lost, but the fragment that remains is nonetheless quite beautiful. For more information, please ask our music director, Heather Fuller-Johnson, or our organist, Joseph Schubert.
