To inspire in each other a longing for holiness, conversion, and an openness to Jesus' call: "Follow Me;" by giving ourselves entirely to Christ through Mary, our Mother, in prayer, the Divine Liturgy, the Eucharist, and His Mercy in the Sacraments.

VI Sunday of Easter

XXX

In the Gospel reading this Sunday, Jesus says to the disciples, "On that day you will realize that I am in my Father and you are in me and I in you. Whoever has my commandments and observes them is the one who loves me."

What does keeping His commandments truly look like?

In the Gospel of Matthew, a scholar asks Jesus, "Teacher, which commandment in the law is the greatest?", to which Jesus replied with the most perfect answer. He says

"You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself"

The first three commandments reveal that we must love God above all else and with all of our being. The latter six reveal that we must love our neighbor. But what do these two greatest commandments truly mean? Many Catholics prepare themselves for the sacrament of reconciliation through the use of the Ten Commandments as an examination of conscience, but St Padre Pio of Pietrelcina emphasized our deep need for DAILY examinations of conscience. Here are two deeper reflections on the two greatest commandments that we can use daily to reflect on the state of our souls.

You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.

Has God been the source, center and hope of my life? Have I put myself, anyone or anything before God? Have I made an idol of any person, idea, occupation or thing? Have I failed to trust in God, His love and mercy? Have I failed to pray to God and to worship Him faithfully? Have I doubted the Christian faith? Have I murmured or complained against God in adversities? Do I have a deep and sincere respect for God and His Holy Name? Have I shown disrespect to God, either in word or deed? Have I dishonored God's Name in any way? Have I sworn a false oath? Have I broken any solemn promise or vow that was done before God? Have I cursed or used foul language?

You shall Love your neighbor as yourself

Have I treated my family members with patience and love? Have I respected my teachers, superiors, employers (those who are in authority) as I should? Have I disobeyed or deceived them by my words or deeds? Have I treated fairly all those who have worked for me? Have I caused others to sin? Have I abused my health or the health of others by evil and intemperate living (i.e. drugs, alcohol, etc.)? Have I given way to anger or hatred, or sought revenge? Have I failed to forgive anyone or harbored evil thoughts against them? Have I been cruel to anyone? Have I made careless statements or done anything else to harm the good name and reputation of another person? Have I engaged in idle gossip, hearsay and backbiting?
