CALLED TO BE SAINTS TODAY

When Jesus ascended the mountain to teach the Beatitudes, He wasn't simply offering spiritual platitudes or distant ideals. He was painting a portrait of holiness—a blueprint for sainthood that turns worldly wisdom completely upside down. The poor in spirit, the meek, the merciful, those who hunger for righteousness: these are not the people the world celebrates, yet they are precisely whom God exalts.

On this Solemnity of All Saints, we celebrate not only the canonized heroes of our faith but also the countless unnamed holy ones who now stand before God's throne. The vision from Revelation shows us a multitude beyond counting, from every nation and people, all clothed in white and holding palm branches of victory. This is our destiny, our calling, our hope. Sainthood is not reserved for a spiritual elite; it is the universal vocation of every baptized Christian.

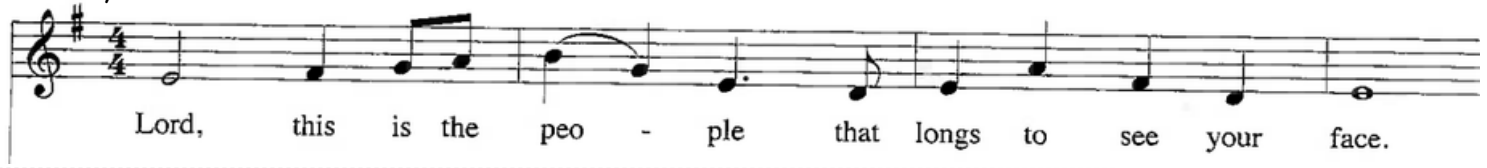

The Beatitudes reveal that holiness often flourishes in unexpected soil: in our mourning, in our meekness, in our hunger for what is right. When we comfort the grieving, work for peace, or endure misunderstanding for the sake of the Gospel, we are walking the path Jesus Himself walked. We are becoming the saints God created us to be. Saint John reminds us in today's second reading that we are already God's children, though what we shall be has not yet been fully revealed.

The saints show us that holiness is possible in every state of life—in kitchens and boardrooms, in hospital beds and classrooms, in moments of joy and seasons of suffering. They were ordinary people who said yes to God's extraordinary grace, day after day, choice after choice.

Which Beatitude speaks most powerfully to your life right now, and how is God inviting you to live it more fully today?

Music Corner

In the Book of Revelation, John sees a great multitude from every nation standing before the throne and singing the praises of God. That heavenly song is not distant from us; at every Mass we are drawn into the same worship, joining our voices to the saints who have gone before us. When we sing the Gloria, the Sanctus, or the psalm, we are not only offering our own prayer—we are taking part in the one liturgy of heaven and earth.

"Sing to the LORD a new song; sing to the LORD, all the earth!" — Psalm 96:1

It's joyful, welcoming, and a wonderful reminder that everyone has a reason to raise their voice in praise of God!
