Welcome!

November 8, 2026 | Thirty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Friends,

This Sunday's theme is Watchful Readiness. In the Gospel, ten bridesmaids wait for the bridegroom, but only five bring enough oil for their lamps. When he arrives at midnight, those who are prepared enter the wedding feast with him. As the Church year draws to a close, Our Lord reminds us to be ready for His return, for we know neither the day nor the hour.

St. John Chrysostom put it simply: "We must store up oil here, that we may have it to use there when occasion shall require." We store up that oil through prayer, the sacraments, and works of mercy. A little each day, we prepare our hearts to meet the Lord.

For this week's theme, see CCC 672 and 2849, and YOUCAT 525. Verso l'Alto!

- Fr. David Kruse

Join us as we prayerfully explore Dr. Brant Pitre's teaching on the Book of Revelation. Together we will consider Jesus' prophetic words, the destruction of the Temple, the Great Tribulation, and the rich symbolic imagery found within this sacred text. This study seeks to bring clarity to the Church's understanding of the "end times" and to strengthen our hope in the saving promise of Christ.
